

REPAIRING CHILDREN'S BOOKS

OUR WORKSHOP

This workshop will orient students to the world of book repair. We will work with torn pages, ripped covers, and broken spines to rebuild damaged children's books. Instead of making new covers to paper over the damage, we'll respect the integrity of the original material to strengthen it for a new life of readability. In the process, we'll get to work with the colorful images and text of historic children's books. Think your damaged books are beyond repair? Think again, and learn how to make them readable with us.

Please note: this workshop is geared toward intermediate level bookbinders. Please have some basic experience sewing and gluing books before attending this workshop. Please also note that you will receive a special lifting knife as part of the materials fee for this class, and that the fee has been adjusted to reflect that cost.

OUR INSTRUCTOR

Juliayn Coleman received a diploma in bookbinding and book conservation from the North Bennet Street School in Boston, Massachusetts in 2003. She is president of the Hand Bookbinders of California and is a member of the American Institute for Conservation, the Guild of Book Workers (US) and Designer Bookbinders (UK). She currently resides in Oakland, California, where she has a private practice in bookbinding and conservation. For more about Juliayn and her work, please visit: www.bookislandbindery.com

"Juliayn teaches good practices which promote good habits."

OUR SETTING

Our workshop will take place at the historic Sunset Lodge on Lake Damariscotta in Jefferson, Maine. Sunset Lodge, established in 1919 as a fishing lodge, is a rustic lodge with four surrounding cabins perched at the widest part of the lake with breathtaking sunset views. There are two docks for swimming and boating, a pool and ping pong room, and lawn area for relaxing, shuffleboard and games. For more about Sunset Lodge please visit: sunsetlodge.org. There are many sites in the surrounding Maine coastal area to explore, such as lighthouses, rocky shores and small, picturesque coastal towns.
